

NEW!
2017 $150 PURE GOLD COIN
CANADA 150 SPECIAL EDITION
VOYAGEUR

A nation's character and spirit are often revealed in the designs of its circulation coins. For Canada, no other coin has done this more profoundly than the voyageur silver dollar. Canada's first circulating silver dollar was introduced in 1935 to mark the Silver Jubilee celebrations for King George V. Its design featured a voyageur and Native person paddling a canoe in tribute to the fur trade; the industry that founded the nation—and the image of a vast untamed frontier it conveyed made it one of the most popular coin designs ever to enter circulation in Canada.

The voyageur silver dollar was designed by renowned Toronto sculptor, Emanuel Hahn, making it one of Canada's first domestically-designed coins and great source of pride. Even though the Royal Canadian Mint had begun striking Canada's coins in 1908, the designs, tools and dies were still being produced by the Royal Mint in England

ACTUAL SIZE

SECURITY FEATURE

SPECIAL FEATURES

- Limited volume of only 15,000 coins.
- Features a unique $150 denomination, a first ever for a 1oz 9999Au gold bullion coin
- Precision cut radial lines on the coin's reverse and obverse exclusive to the Royal Canadian Mint creates a unique shimmer when held in light and acts as a visible security feature like no other.
- A visible micro-engraved security maple leaf featuring '17' in the centre of the leaf.
- Packaged in a unique credit card style packaging featuring the official Canada 150 logo and an assay certificate on the back side of the card attesting to the purity and minimum guaranteed weight.

PRODUCT SPECIFICATIONS

Mint: Royal Canadian Mint
Item Number: 163955
Composition: 99.99% pure gold
Weight*: 1 oz (31.11 g)
Diameter (mm): 30
Face Value: 150 dollars (CAN)
Finish: Bullion with radial lines
Edge: Serrated
Packaging: Premium credit card style
Quantity: 100 per box

THE COIN

Largely unchanged from the design that appeared on Canadian silver dollars from 1935 to 1986, the "Voyageur" image by sculptor and artist Emanuel Hahn is a powerful nod to Canada's early history and its reputation as an untamed frontier during the fur trade era. In the centre of the coin's reverse is where a canoe moves swiftly past the wind-swept pines that dot a semi-circular island. A voyageur paddles at the stern, while an Aboriginal paddles at the bow; between them, a bundle of wrapped furs are marked "HB" for Hudson's Bay Company, while stylized vertical rays above represent the aurora borealis lighting up the sky.

MINT.CA | 1-800-267-1871
